

Burning Man 2004
Human Skybeam
Project Overview

Tower anchor ropes attach to rebar stakes underneath bikes.

Power cables are ziptied to the anchor ropes.

The spotlight is a cluster of three individual light modules. Each module draws power from one 12 volt battery. The bicycle drives a generator which charges the battery.

The bicycles have LED lights powered by a secondary battery to keep the area lit even if the main spotlight runs out of power.

